Notable features:

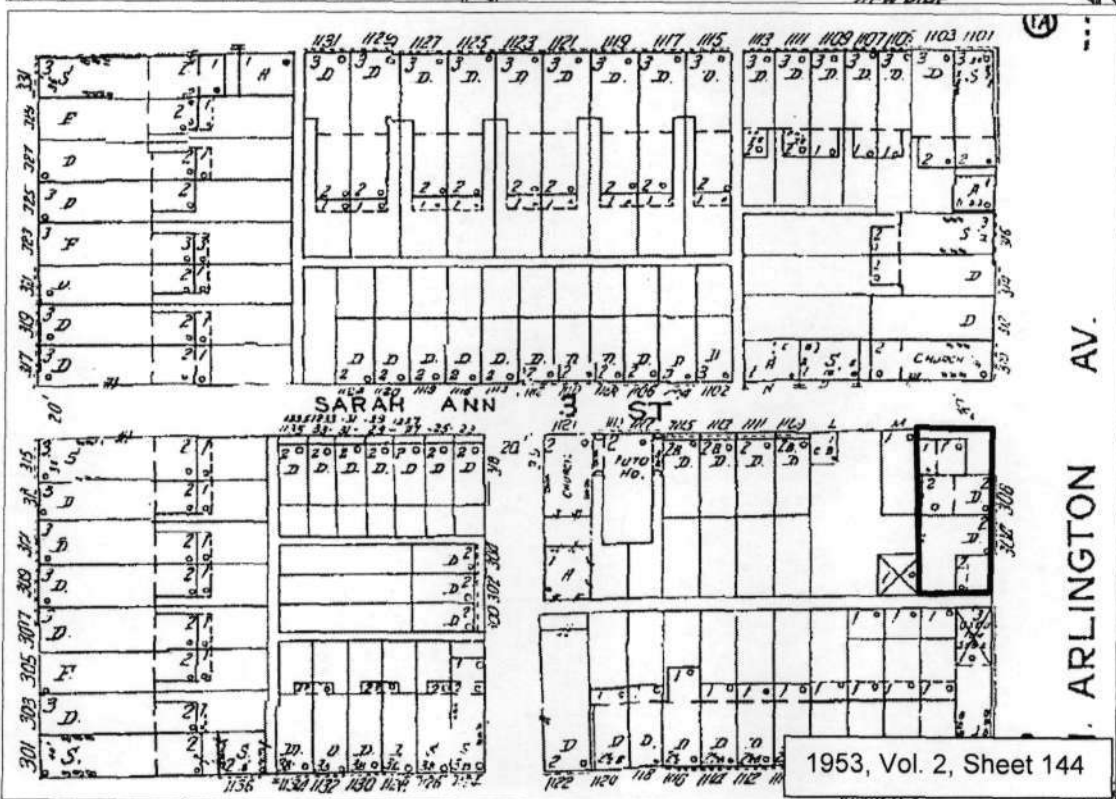

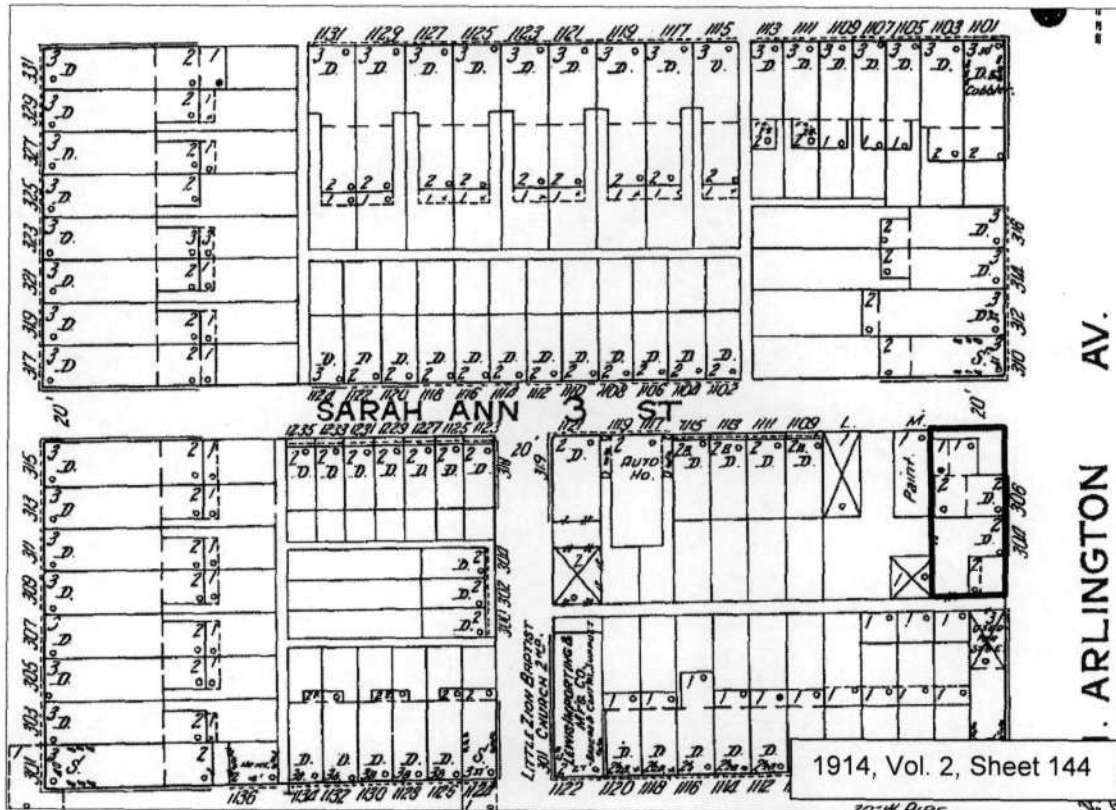

Houses with shed roofs were relatively common in early Poppleton. This is one of the few that remain and should if possible be rehabilitated. As the house has been badly damaged by fire and open to the elements, rebuilding may be difficult but it should be attempted. The pair 304-306 could be rehabilitated together (perhaps as one dwelling?) since 306 is very small. Number 304 with its promenade gallery is pretty and could be quite charming. Both would need some land in the rear where lots 57-59 have been cleared.

Environmental context:

A wide but relatively quiet street; needs street trees; has good across the street relationships.
